A Coast Guard tidal wave alert between 8:00 and 10:00 o'clock last evening had Carmel police and sheriff's deputies patrolling Scenic Drive with bullhorns and loudspeakers, herding beach-walkers to high ground. Tides rose seven feet at Crescent City and five feet at San Luis Obispo; Carmel Bay was still as a millpond, to the disappointment of a crowd of over 150 which gathered at the foot of Ocean Avenue as soon as warnings to keep away from beaches were broadcast. The alert was called off at 9:45 o'clock.

Postmaster Fred Strong is asking for the cooperation and consideration of post office boxholders for the next two months. The post office lobby will be locked each evening at 9:00 o'clock and remain closed until 6:00 o'clock the following morning. During these hours boxholders will be unable to get their mail.

Because of remodeling and enlargement construction at the post office, the screen above the box stacks has been removed giving access to the inside of the post office. Therefore, the lobby must be locked when the last post office employee leaves in the evening and stay closed until the first clerk arrives in the morning, Mr. Strong says.

He emphasizes that all mails will come in and go out at regular times during the alterations. The post office remodeling should be completed in July, then regular lobby hours will be resumed, he promises.

Today's early dawn found Mayor Frank Putnam and Councilman Eben Whittlesey bound for Berkeley and two days of intensive seminars at the Biennial Mayors' and Councilmen's Institute sponsored by the League of California Cities at Hotel Claremont. Whittlesey will fly back to the Peninsula Saturday while Putnam, Carmel Rotary president-elect, jets cross-country to Miami as delegate to the Rotary International convention.

Property owners in the Pico Blanco area, including the Boy Scouts, are concerned over reports that a private firm has purchased property there and made test borings preparatory to opening a lime quarry and cement plant. The project might involve construction of an aerial tramway to transport material from Pico Blanco to the Coast Highway. Considerable opposition to the project can be anticipated if, and when, it comes before the county supervisors.

Monterey County will receive more than a million dollars ($1,038,400) for road and highway work from the state gas tax fund during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, a report from State Senator Fred Farr states.

Carmel will receive approximately $17,400 according to City Clerk Larry Rose. The city will use $5,204 to seal coat and maintain residential streets; allocate $12,196 to the fund for future resurfacing and draining Ocean Avenue, Junipero to Monte Verde Streets.

The Board of Supervisors has allocated the sum of $12,000 to Crown Crest Mr. Universe, Best Dog in 1959 Del Monte Kennel Club Show held at Pebble Beach, and Mrs. Derek G. Rayne of Carmel, Chairman of the 1960 Pebble Beach Show to be held Sunday, at Del Monte Lodge. Total entry in this year's show is a record 1560 dogs.

Judging will commence at 9:00 o'clock in each of the 12 rings set up on the spacious lawns fronting the Lodge and will continue throughout the day, climaxed by judging for best in variety groups and best dog in show. The Parade of Champions is scheduled for 5:30 o'clock.

One of the perennially popular attractions of the show is the Obedience Trials, to be conducted from 9:00 o'clock on in Rings 10, 11 and 12 at the south end of the lawn.

The Del Monte show is the largest unbench dog show in America, and members of the Del Monte Kennel Club have spent months in preparations for it. Derek Rayne is the club's president.

Judging best-in-show this year will be Leo Wilson of Yorkshire, England.

Other judges will be William Schmick of Greenwich, Connecticut, Thomas Lee of Long Island, New York, Charles Hamilton of Omaha, Nebraska, Manuel Ibarra of Mexico City, Maurice L. Baker of Minneapolis, Minnesota, Robert N. McCandless of New York City, Commander William Trotter of Coronado, Oliver C. Harriman of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Noerr of Stamford, Connecticut, and Joseph A. Brogan Jr. of Portland, Oregon.

SYMPHONY FOR FUN

Symphony for Fun is the theme of the concert to be given tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium by the Monterey Peninsula College Band Club, directed by Dr. Bruce Hubbard.

The program will include excerpts from West Side Story by Bernstein, Warsaw Concerto by Addinsell, and a Rossini overture. The entire concert will be recorded and copies of the records made available to the 45-member band.

Youth Center Board Acts On Tax Status, Considers Finances

The adult board of directors of the Carmel Youth Center on Tuesday afternoon amended their articles of incorporation to comply with new demands of the Internal Revenue Department and attain a tax exempt status for the Youth Center. They also heard a plan for community organizations to assume support of the teenage recreation center and a report of insufficient funds to complete the interior of the auditorium.

Rollo Payne, president of the Community Chest, stated yesterday that as soon as a tax exempt certificate arrives from the Internal Revenue Department, the Chest will free $4,900 allocated to support the center this year. This aid has been withheld since January pending clarification of the Youth Center's tax exempt status.

Yesterday, Attorney John Morse sent the articles, amended to feature education of youth as the general purpose of the center, to Sacramento. As soon as two certified copies are returned from the state, he will submit the articles to the Department of Internal Revenue in San Francisco and hopes the federal tax exempt certificate for the Youth Center will arrive next month. The Community Chest will then give the Youth Center monthly payments which have been withheld since January, amounting to over $2,000, according to Mr. Payne.

This will ease the precarious financial state of the Youth Center. Only other support this year will come from the Carmel Unified School District which has budgeted $3,500 for the Youth Center from its recreation fund. However, the school board indicated this might be the last time this money

Council Says No To Mall, Park, One-Way Streets

Last night the city council eliminated the one-way street traffic plan, Ocean Avenue pedestrian mall, re-routing of Mountain View Avenue to form a park and parking lot consideration from the central district plan. They kept the four-zone plan for the business district, the proposed civic center at Junipero and Fourth, a paragraph stating objects of the plan, and another on conditions influencing new planning for the business district.

Students Deal With Delicate Question Of Mayor's Calling Cards

Yesterday was Youth in Government Day, and at City Hall, Carmel High students assumed the functions of city officials and tackled a thorny agenda that ranged from placement of a fireplug to financing of Mayor Putnam's calling cards.

Assuming office for the day were Bill True, mayor; Ellen McKelvey, Suzi Smith, Fred Bucher, Elizabeth van Loben Sels, councilmen; Darrel Clark, fire chief; Russell Wise, police chief; John Durán, city clerk; Shirley Flint, city attorney; Jim Aitken, building inspector; Ciji Ware, assistant city clerk.

Adopted, after vigorous debate, were resolutions recommending increase of overtime parking fines from $2 to $4 to help finance an enlarged police department; establishment of a loading zone on the east side of San Carlos Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues; installation of a fire hydrant at Scenic and Twelfth; planning commission approval of storefront lighting and signs. A resolution calling for six city-financed trash containers was tabled.

The student councilmen tussled at length with a resolution recommending correction of parking congestion, but found no clear operational solution to the perennial Carmel problem.

Bomb on the agenda proved to be the mayor's request for payment of the printing of his calling cards, for which Howard Timbers

New Restaurant Is Okayed By Planners

Plans for a new restaurant at the northwest corner of Junipero and Fifth were approved by the Planning Commission yesterday. Comstock Associates presented the plans for Edith Larson and Karl Burghardt.

In other action, the planners approved remodeling for the Lanz and Candyland shops; extended approval for remodeling of Carmel Art Association Galleries; turned down revised plans for off-street parking area at Wayfarer Apartments; and continued action on Fred Farr's proposed apartment-office building at the corner of Monte Verde and Seventh Avenue until its next meeting, June 21.

The planners were pleased at revised sketches for the remodeling of Purity Store, showing nearly twice the landscaping originally indicated, but agreed that planting of pines along the Sixth Street parking area would be preferable to saw-tooth shielding.

This action came after a two-hour public hearing. Citizens predominately protested the one-way traffic flow in the plan. Several sharp criticisms of the planning commission were given and enthusiastically applauded by the audience. A letter from the Citizens Committee asked that the size of business sites and structures be limited, also that time limits on use permits be set.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg voted against the adoption of the plan. Other councilmen were satisfied after deletions were made.

Mayor Frank Putnam stated, "I was a proponent of the plan before the hearing. After listening to protests from an excellent cross-section of residents and business men, I capitulate."

"The vision of Carmel with 70 large porcelain directional signs without seagulls or squirrels is appalling," he added.

Mr. Putnam commended the "fantastic spirit" of the crowd of citizens that exceeded the seating capacity of the council chambers. "It was a wonderful public hearing," he declared.

City Clerk Larry Rose opened the hearing by stating a petition against the plan, signed by 114 property owners, residents, and proprietors in the business district, had been received. The petition deplored the proposed plan as uncarmel-like and discriminatory. One-way traffic would modernize Carmel from a village into a city; cause business, police and fire protection to decline; push traffic into the residential district, the petition stated.

Mr. Rose next read the letter from the Citizens Committee.

Admiral Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, elaborated on the letter in his speech. Andy Wiemann told the council that the public was not informed about the plan.

Frank Dickson protested the traffic plan, also Mrs. Rose Crumrine, Mrs. Geraldine Smith, Howard Healey, Thompson McCrea, Mrs. Mai McGrury, A. C. Lafrenz, City Engineer Clayton Neill, Lewis Hunter, Mrs. Grayce McKay, Lars Svendsgaard, Harry Beshore, Mrs. Wesley Yale, Claude Kimball, Mrs. Lee Harbick, Mickey Silent, R. McKee, and Mrs. Philip Schneebberger.

City Engineer Clayton Neill presented figures against the traffic plan. One-way streets would make traffic flow east and west on eight lanes instead of 12 now in existence. Closing Ocean Avenue between Dolores and San Carlos for a mall and Mountain View Avenue for a park would eliminate park-

CARMEL BUILDERS SUPPLY EDGES TEXACO, 3 TO 2

Manager Gene Ricketts led his Carmel Builders Supply softball club to a 3-2 win over the favored Texaco aggregation in one of the best softball tussles ever seen at the Sunset diamond. The Builders delayed the win until the final inning as they broke out with three runs to wipe out the Texaco two-run lead. A pair of Texaco errors set up the big rally for the Carmel club and Bill Conlan came through with the crucial hit to push across the winning run.

Ky Miyamoto, one of the most popular softball performers on the Peninsula, pitched the win for the Builders, striking out eight Texaco hitters and scattering five hits over the seven inning route. The veteran ex-Pine Cone hurler was extremely tough in the tight situations as he blazed his fast rise-ball past the potent Texaco lineup.

Eddie Estaban was the big stick for the Carmel Builders, connecting for two safe blows in three trips to the plate. Walt Frey and Bob Updike choked off some threatening Texaco rallies by coming up with outstanding fielding plays when the gas-pumpers had potential runs on the bases.

In tonight's league action, the Texaco club will have a chance to get even with the Builders Supply gang when they clash in a 7:00 o'clock game at the Pacific Grove softball park. Next Tuesday night, the Builders engage the Peninsula Paint aggregation in a Peninsula Recreation League tilt which could decide the first-half title.

PADRE NINE AT GONZALES FRIDAY AFTERNOON

With nothing at stake except sixth-place in the CCAL B-division baseball race, the Carmel Padres and the Gonzales Spartans mix it up at the Gonzales diamond tomorrow afternoon in the final game of the prep season. The Spartans, who were picked to win the B-division chase, have been scuttled by a porous infield and erratic pitching, and will rely on underclass performers to turn back the Carmel challenge. Carmel has produced a hard-hitting club which can erupt for big innings, but the pitching has been scatter-shot all the way and the free-passes have overshadowed the power at the plate.

The Red & Gray unit traveled to Morgan Hill last Friday for a go with the Live Oak Acorns and were drubbed, 18 to 8, in 5 innings. Throwing all around the plate, the Padre pitchers issued 19 free walks and gave up 12 hits in the five-inning tilt. CCAL rules award the game to the team which is ahead by ten runs at the end of five innings of play.

CCAL B-division standings at the present time show the Pacific Grove Breakers in front with a 5-3 record, closely followed by Gilroy with 6-4. The Breakers are favored by the schedule, meeting San Lorenzo and Live Oak in their last two games while the Mustangs must tangle with San Lorenzo and Hollister.

WILDER & JONES TOPS LITTLE LEAGUE CIRCUIT Little League Standings (As of May 24)

	Won	Lost
Wilder & Jones	5	2
Pilot Market	5	3
Sport Shop	3	3
Boys' Town	3	4
San Carlos Realty	3	4
Turner & McEldowney	2	5

Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones scrappy Little League entry took over the top spot in the cozy Carmel circuit by clipping the Pilot Market crew, 5 to 4, Monday night as Kim Roberts smashed a grand slam home run in the fifth heat to put the plumbers in the driver's seat. Kim pitched some sterling ball in the first part of the tilt, but was relieved by Ed Kawanakoa in the fifth inning and Ed got the credit for the win. The only thing between W&J and the first-half title is a tie playoff with Sport Shop this Friday evening. The Plumbers and Sports have one inning to play on a deadlocked game which was played on May 16.

Don Canham's Turner & McEldowney gang clipped Lew McCreery's Sport Shop aggregation, 8 to 7, for its second win of the campaign. Pete Crane pitched the win for the bricklayers with Ring Guy and Jerry Forsman driving across the winning markers. Mike Guyer, Tim Peterson and Larry Thompson hit doubles for the losers, but their big bats weren't enough to offset the Turner & McEldowney power.

Jack Miller's San Carlos Realty unit rallied in the fifth frame to clip Turner & McEldowney, 5 to 3, as Craig Cunningham and Lawson Little found the home run range. Jim Sparolini pitched the win for the realtors, but he received strong support from reliefer Larry Little.

Turner & McEldowney can shut off Boys' Town's chances for a tie spot in the first half play, but a win for the Sports will give them a fighting chance to deadlock the Wilder & Jones gang which is riding high with a 5-2-1 record. Friday evening, the Sports and W&J will play off the May 20 deadlock, and on Monday, Boys' Town will test the Sports in the first game of the second half. Tuesday, San Carlos tackles Wilder & Jones and the Wednesday fare matches Pilot Market with the Sport Shop.

VILLAGE INN AND LITTLE SPARROWS LEAD FARM TEAM

Manager Pete Kochis steered his Village Inn squad to a 15-3 win over Ewell Cole's Nikko gang last Saturday and gained a deadlock for first place in the sizzling Farm Team league. Jimmy Baldwin and Jeff Wickham teamed up to pitch the win for the Village Inn and good bat power was supplied by Bob Gamble and Peter Alley. Bob stroked a perfect 4-for-4 while Pete had 3-for-3.

Darryl Dawson turned in a sparkling pitching performance as the Little Sparrows kept pace with Village Inn by clipping Derek Rayne, 22 to 4. The little right-hander faced 15 batters, struck out 13, and allowed one hit. Greg True started on the mound for the winners but ran into control trouble and was bailed out by Dawson. Doug Jones supplied the big batting punch for the winners, hitting 5-for-5 and scoring 5 runs. Slick fielding plays by shortstop Jim Carlin featured the Little Sparrow defense. Rick Taylor and John Kalmbach toiled on the mound for the clothiers.

The scrappy Padres surged from behind to edge the American Legion, 12 to 11, as Ralph Forbes came on in relief to pitch three (Continued on Page Three)

Dean Dance Program Novel Presentation Of Andersen Story

Although somewhat of a shock to conservative balletomanes, The Emperor's Nightingale, the ballet-drama presented in Sunset Auditorium by the Dorothy Dean Dance Studio on Friday night and again on Sunday afternoon, proved to be interesting and colorful.

Based on a play by former Carmelite Dan Toheroh, the Hans Christian Andersen story was interpreted through narration, dancing and pantomime. Sets by Nick LeFeuvre were arresting. Costumes were striking. Music was well chosen. The young dancers acquitted themselves with grace and charm and were aided in the presentation by the finished performances of Akemi Ito, Roberta Tabata and Paul Vecker.

Miss Dean is to be congratulated on producing a novel dance program, thus increasing the reputation of the Peninsula as an original dance center.

The Carmel Plaza-Rockets encounter was touch-and-go for the first four innings when the Plaza gang broke loose for 10 runs and to down the Rockets, 17 to 9. Paul Culver pitched the win for Carmel Plaza with Steve Edwards receipting for the loss. John Anzini and Steve Willidy topped the hitters in this one, both getting a pair of singles.

This Saturday's Farm Team action features a clash between Village Inn and the Little Sparrows at 11 o'clock. The winner of this tilt will gain undisputed possession of first place and will have taken a big step toward winning the title. In the 9:00 o'clock opener, American Legion clashes with the Rockets in an even-up fracas. Nikko's and Derek Rayne cross bats at 1:00 o'clock and the Padres test the Carmel Plaza in the 3 o'clock finale.

repave and improve Rio Road from Oliver Road to Santa Lucia Street past Carmel Mission Basilica, according to Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson.

Work is expected to start next week. Rusted out culverts will be replaced and rough areas repaired preparatory to repaving the roadway, a report from County Road Commissioner Bruce W. McClain, states. Repaving will begin in June and be completed in two weeks.

The new roadway will provide two full traffic lanes throughout its length with a four-lane widening near the Mission. The Mission School crosswalk will be relocated east of its present location for the convenience of River School students who walk to and from school through the Little League ball park area.

State road projects in this county include constructing fills and retaining walls at 14 shoreline locations along Highway 1 between the San Luis Obispo County line and Big Sur. Low bid for this work was received from the firm of Stanton Biggs, Fresno, according to the State Division of Highways.

Arts commissioners last Friday decided to abandon plans for a full-scale Arts Festival here in October. Instead they will meet with the Arts Festival Co-ordinating Committee to see if a limited festival can be arranged. They stated that so much interest in an arts festival had been aroused in the community that it was unwise to completely drop the project.

Commissioners also will ask the city council to allocate in the new city budget $5,000 for Forest Theater repairs. This amount was estimated some months ago by Building Inspector Floyd Adams as sufficient funds to repair stage and lighting and make the city-owned premises usable for an arts festival.

The arts commission in future will meet in city hall on the first Monday afternoon of each month at 4:00 o'clock.

County Planning Commissioners Tuesday approved a ten-acre elementary school site in upper Carmel Valley for Carmel Unified School District. The site is one mile east of the valley postoffice, near Camp Stephani.

AL COOK BUYS CARMEL RIVER INN

Al Cook has purchased the Carmel River Inn from George Tett, and announces plans for extensive additions and modifications to the cottage-type motel on Highway 1 near the Carmel River bridge.

According to Ocean Avenue Realty, which handled the sale, purchase price was over $250,000.

Mr. Cook is former owner of El Padre, Starlite, Valley Lodge and Spinning Wheel motels, and presently operates Brass International in the Court of the Golden Bough.

He and his wife, Louise, make their home in Pebble Beach. Their son, Michael, will graduate next month from Carmel High School.

will be available. Last night the city council accepted half of this amount, $1,750, and will send it to the center immediately.

August Nieto, chairman of the recreation commission, present at Tuesday's meeting in city hall, suggested to the adult board that community organizations, such as service clubs, might assume support of the Youth Center. He presented this idea after board discussion on establishment of a recreation district or a fund drive. Neither of these two proposals met with much favor. Directors feared a recreation district might remove control of the Youth Center from the student members.

Adult board president P. A. McCreery admitted "proper" means of financing the Youth Center should be planned. He favored Mr. Nieto's suggestion. J. O. Handley, board member, liked the idea, too. He said the school board was justified in indicating elimination of their aid to the center. The recreation tax was paid by residents of all the school district. Future recreation demands for Carmel Valley or Carmel Highlands might take precedence over the Youth Center, he implied.

Mr. Handley reported that $3,500 was needed to complete the interior of the Youth Center auditorium, now being enlarged. Additional cost of construction steel and rewiring of the building for safety reasons, not included in plans, caused this deficit, he said. Present plans are to leave the inside unfinished after installing flooring. The auditorium will be usable in this condition, Mr. Handley assured the board.

Bob Martin, proprietor of Rosita Lodge, a motel across the street from the Youth Center, complained to the board that on Friday and Saturday nights his guests were disturbed by the noise of cars departing from the center. He was asked to meet with the Youth Center student board of directors to work out a means to control the nuisance.

Young Carmel . . .

Semester activities are reaching a climax at Carmel High, with student body elections slated for tomorrow and Senior Week coming up.

New cheerleaders and songleaders were named this week. Head cheerleader is Billie Fritsche; Niki Budd, Ginger Laky, Mary Martin, assistants; Pam Petersen, alternate.

Julie Campbell is the new head songleader, assisted by Judy Hensel, Cheryl Hay, Sue Shirley and Gay Antoncich, alternate.

First event of Senior Week will be Senior Teaching Day on Tuesday. The Senior Class Picnic will be held at Big Sur on Wednesday, followed by Dress Up Day next Thursday and Senior Assembly on Friday.

Returning a favor extended by P. G. Junior High earlier this year, Sunset School sent an exchange program over the hill to Pacific Grove for this afternoon's assembly. The 50-voice chorus under Jack Douglas and 14 members of Mrs. Sarah Sproull's class participated in the entertainment exchange.

Sunset's seventh and eighth grade squads will compete in the Inter-School Track meet tomorrow night at 7:00 o'clock at MPC.

Forthcoming on the Sunset events calendar are the Girls' Recreation Association dance on June 11 in the cafeteria, and on June 16, graduation.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

An event of importance not only to the Peninsula and Carmel but to the whole musical world took place at Sunset Auditorium on Sunday. This was the world premiere of a recently discovered concert mass by Antonio Vivaldi, whose works were so admired by Bach that he transcribed many of them. Today we hear Vivaldi revived in several forms, though his many operas are forgotten like the Mass which Vahe Aslanian, head of the music department at Hartnell College, discovered on a recent trip to Italy. His laborious work in transcribing the Mass from the original autographed manuscript in the Biblioteca Nazionale of Turin should bring Aslanian wide recognition for making another masterpiece by this classic composer available, besides the added musical importance to the community.

The Mass was performed by the Hartnell Community Chorus and the Carmel Chamber Orchestra. Aslanian conducted the work with evident heart interest and although action was stilted, brought to light an acceptable addition to the modern interest in Vivaldi. The soprano, contralto and tenor soloists, Nancy Hurdle, Norma Wiley, Jane Woodward and John Craig, were drawn from the chorus.

While not a complete church mass but a poetical expression of the Kyrie and Gloria in Chamber Concert form, the general tonality, melodic beauty, solos and tutti carried to the interested audience both a reverent and dramatic sense with variety of treatment.

Vivaldi, though a priest, never seems to have written a whole mass. He scored 38 complete operas, two oratorios and other parts of the mass, yet little of his choral output is known. The beauty of Vivaldi's melody and harmonic constructions always charm listeners who are not obsessed with modern dissonances. The performance would have gained with more preparation time, but considering it as a college and limited orchestral group presentation, the premiere reverts to the performers' credit. A second hearing takes place in Salinas on June 5 to which the public will also be admitted without charge.

Myriam Zunker opened the concert with the Bach violin concerto in E major. We have heard more stirring performances from this fine musician and more co-ordinated playing from the Chamber Orchestra under its regular director, Gilbert Boyer, but Zunker's playing is always interesting in tonal strength and dignity and she received an ovation. Many backstage congratulations were offered to both Aslanian and Boyer for their efforts.

Unfortunately, I had to miss the Monterey College Concert on Friday at All Saints' because of going to San Francisco where I attended the Saturday evening Symphony concert in which violinist David Abel was soloist for the fourth time that week. Having suffered from an attack of flu, he was not strong enough to stand all the way through the Mozart Concerto in D major, and sat on a high stool, but his playing was fraught with tonal brilliancy and masterly execution as well as poetic sympathy both in the Concerto and the Bartok Rhapsody No. 1 for violin and orchestra. He was recalled many times and Conductor Jorda was evidently delighted with his performance and concurred with me when I said to him backstage that Abel would undoubtedly "go far". Locally we have heard him several times with the Monterey County Symphony but never quite so brilliantly as at his Saturday performance, with its whole-souled expression. Dvorak's Carnival Overture and Shostakovich's Symphony No. 9 were played by the orchestra with all Jorda's genius and understanding in direction. Canon and Mrs. Charles A. Dowdell, always devotees of the best music, were the only Carmelites I happened to meet in the lobby of the Opera House.

Director Adler has just announced the complete 1960 San Francisco Opera Season for nine weeks from September 16 to October 27. The West Coast premiere of Berg's Wozzeck and first San Francisco performances of Bellini's La Sonnambula are two of the highlights. Also a revival of Puccini's La Fanciulla del West and a revival of Wagner's Lohengrin, with a long list of famous singers that includes Tebaldi in Tosca the opening night and a special Aida performance on September 30.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

There is a popular commercial which you and I hear so often that we are nauseated, but in thinking about book reviews the other day, it came to me that we might apply this commercial to good advantage. We might say that reviews should be read with a thinking man's filter and a reading man's taste. In other words, don't believe all you read about a new book, and never form an opinion without first reading who the reviewer is. Most publications give a sentence or two about the reviewer. He may be the cousin, the associate, the friend, or the rival, of the author and this colors his review, thoughtful though it may be. You can always come down to this office and read the Kirkus reviews, which are aimed at being unbiased rather than clever.

An astounding book is Commandant of Auschwitz by Rudolph Hoess, who says frankly that while he was in command at Auschwitz concentration camp he was responsible for the death of over two million Jews. Yet he claims that he "had a heart and was not evil". This book is Hoess' autobiography, written not long before he was executed for his crimes. It is an incredible story, yet it must be believed because it is true.

Another book which may leave you feeling a little ill is The Poisons in Your Food by William Longgood. This book will start you planning to raise your own vegetables, bake your own bread, and perhaps have a few chickens in your yard. And Dear Reader, you will be healthier if you do.

And while we have you burdened by a lack of appetite and a revulsion against crimes committed against your fellow man, let us add the final sickening stroke by giving you a book about the Longs of Louisiana, all of them from Huey to Ol' Earl of present day newspaper headlines. The book was written by Stan Opatowsky and is illustrated with photographs.

For ladies-in-waiting we have a new book on pregnancy which is called Nine Months' Waiting, by Robert Hall, M.D. It will be shelved at the desk, so you can just ask for it there. It circulates for two weeks, not nine months, so read it fast and bring it back.

On the lighter side, we have several good new novels, including two mysteries. Morna Brown who writes under the pseudonym of E. X. Ferrars has Fear the Light, which is a good one for sure! And there is also Dangerous Silence by Donald MacKenzie, a story about a former prison-termer who, after beginning a new life, is discovered and threatened with blackmail. Relaxing reading.

We had to take the door away

Oscar Peterson Trio Pleases Jazz Fans

A happy few jazz enthusiasts basked Monday night at Sunset Auditorium in the relaxed warmth of the Oscar Peterson Trio, which demonstrated in two extended sets why it is one of the best groups on the jazz scene today.

Mr. Peterson, a bulky, benign man with a surprisingly delicate and fastidious approach to the keyboard, retouched a gallery of tunes—Cole Porter, George Gershwin, John Lewis and others—with his special magic: a seemingly inexhaustible inventiveness disciplined by an almost classical restraint.

In the same spirit, drummer Ed Thigpen and bassist Ray Brown each contributed brilliantly to the precise musicianship and balanced sound of the trio.

Without forcing the issue, Mr. Petersen displayed an encyclopedic musical knowledge—here tinkling a phrase that sounded like Papa Haydn, there effortlessly flinging out handfuls of the kind of brilliant confetti identified with Errol Garner, sometimes elaborating an introduction with Chopinesque flourishes.

Except for a few spurts of heady, hard-swinging excitement—most notably in a dazzling series of variations on John Lewis's Gold-from the telephone room and perhaps we should warn you that sound carries right up the stairway, so when you are talking, do it quietly or your inmost remarks will be heard all over. We had too many would-be cute-kids illustrating their love life on the walls of the room. Sometimes human nature can be entirely too human.

en Striker—the trio held to an easy if purposeful pace. There were no dull moments in the concert, but no really hair-raising ones, either.

The concert, fourth in Jimmy Lyons' Jazz Festival Previews, was being recorded, which may have accounted for the no-nonsense performance of the trio: when the final set was concluded, Mr. Peterson briskly acknowledged the warm applause of the studio audience, told his men to pack up their tools, and politely but firmly closed up shop. Those who wanted encores will have to wait for the recording, or for the promised return appearance of the Oscar Peterson Trio at the forthcoming Monterey Jazz Festival.—V.S.

Diana Law Now Mrs. Russell

Honeymooning this week at Yosemite are Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Russell (Diana Law), who were married Saturday afternoon at the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hartland Law, the bride was escorted by her father to the altar where the Reverend James Lewis Russell, the groom's father, performed the marriage ceremony. The Reverend and Mrs. Russell came from their home in Allendale, South Carolina, for the occasion.

Daphne Craige of Monterey Peninsula Country Club, a former schoolmate of Diana's at Santa Catalina School for Girls, and Judy Flood of Woodside were maids of honor. The bride's niece, Patricia Ann Reynal of Salinas, was flower girl.

Diana's wedding gown was a long bouffant white satin robe de style with a bolero of Alencon lace. Her Spanish-style veil was held by a satin coronet and she carried white butterfly orchids.

Her attendants wore full-skirted frocks of bone-white silk with matching wide-brimmed hats and carried sprays of orchids in the same off-white color. The flower girl's costume was a long embroidered silk gown in eighteenth century style, set off by an Alencon lace bonnet and a bouquet of white baby roses.

The bride's mother wore an ombre chiffon sheath of grey shaded to white with white accessories. Mrs. Russell, the groom's mother, chose a blue silk sheath.

Valerio Giusi of Carmel, an instructor at the Army Language School, was best man. Ushers were Peter Suydam, a fellow student with the groom at the ALS, and Peter Law, a cousin of Diana's from Woodside.

An all-white theme was carried out in the church decorations of delphinium and stock, and in the arrangements of white butterfly orchids and watsonia in the Law home at Casanova and Thirteenth where the reception was held.

During the week preceding the wedding, Diana was honored at dinner parties presented by Dr. and Mrs. Remsen Bird, Colonel and Mrs. Harold Mack and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow. A luncheon at Del Monte Lodge was also given by Daphne Craige.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Russell will live in Carmel until October, when the former will be graduated from the Czech department of the Army Language School.

Gilberts Pace Dr. Moore

"Just marvelous! Never seen anything like it!" said John P. Gilbert when he and his wife returned last week from a short visit in Denver. But it wasn't the scenery, the spring snow or the Sierra that evoked the marvelling comments: it was the doughty Dr. Barbara Moore, whom the eastbound Gilberts passed near the Continental Divide.

At the pace she was traveling, says Mr. Gilbert, he has no doubt that the lady will be able to foot it across the continent. The carborne Gilberts, however, were on their way home to Carmel by the time Dr. Moore reached Denver, where a crowd of 150,000 gave her greeting and encouragement.

Geologist To Tour

Charles Shaw of Carmel Highlands leaves next week for an extensive tour which will include attendance at an international geological conference in Copenhagen and several field trips in Europe and Scandinavia. He plans to visit his parents in Berkeley before proceeding to Montreal to board a ship for London. Following his geological junketing, he hopes to conclude his travels in the early fall with a tour of the Greek islands.

Bay Day Gay, Indians Play

The little red schoolhouse near San Jose Creek entertained a steady stream of visitors Saturday for the annual Bay Day festivities sponsored by mothers of the Carmel Cooperative Nursery School. Among the crowd were numerous old grads—kindergartners and first-graders nostalgically renewing old preschool ties.

Most colorful attraction proved to be tours of the Indian encampment below the schoolhouse directed by guide Tasha Doner, whose mother, Mrs. Rosa Doner, is in charge of the school. Hospitable aborigines Andrew Miller, Melissa Lofton, Cynthia Sato and Molly Williams proffered such native delicacies as popcorn and cookies, and successfully withstood a raid by hostile savages Adrian Thomas and Honey Williams.

Drawing for a "mystery painting" by Don Doner was postponed until Bay School alumni day in June, when the artist is expected back from his travels in Mexico.

Award To Annette Smith

Outstanding work as a freshman accounting major at MPC has earned Annette Smith of Carmel a $100 scholarship from the American Society of Women Accountants, Oakland Chapter.

The award was accepted by Annette at a luncheon Saturday at Casa Munras, where the society, last week end, held its 1960 Western Regional Conference.

New Voice At Bensons

Music critic Jack Benson and his wife, Kay, welcomed a third daughter a week ago today at Peninsula Community Hospital. The new arrival, as yet unnamed, weighed eight and a half pounds at birth.

Todd Benson is the baby's only brother; her older sisters are Kim and Krissten.

Albert Burke

Albert Richard Burke, 69, died May 19 in a local hospital following an extended illness.

Mr. Burke retired here eight months ago. He came from Columbus, Ohio, where he was formerly a distributor for the Standard Oil Company. He was born December 13, 1890, in Columbus, and was affiliated with the Council of the Knights of Columbus of that city. His home was on Ladera Drive, Hatton Fields Mesa.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Evanell J. Burke of Carmel, he is survived by a brother, Joseph J. Burke of Detroit, Michigan, and three sisters, Mrs. Frances Feh, Mrs. Lucille Holtschulte and Mrs. Marguerite Tracy, all of Columbus.

Funeral services and interment were held in Columbus.

Anne's Plans, With Honors

Anne Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldo Hicks, ends her undergraduate years with a flourish Saturday when she graduates cum laude from Dominican College in San Rafael. Academic honors are a habit with Anne, a sociology major at Dominican; she graduated highest in her class from Santa Catalina School for Girls.

A strong family contingent from Carmel, consisting of Anne's parents, her brother John, and her aunt Mrs. George Schweninger, will be on hand when she receives her diploma. Saturday night the Hicks will escort their daughter to a dinner in San Francisco honoring the Dominican graduates.

Anne's summer here will be devoted largely to preparations for her September 3 wedding date at Carmel Mission Basilica with Peter Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Kimball of Carmel. Peter, who is presently working in San Jose, will also attend Saturday's graduation ceremonies.

Pre-wedding parties for Anne commenced last month in San Mateo at a shower presented by three of her Dominican classmates who will be bridesmaids: Patricia Maxwell, Phyllis McMullen and Susan Bradley. Also present for this occasion from Carmel were Carroll Ann Rice, who will be Anne's maid of honor, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Schweninger and Kathleen Kimball, Peter's sister, who will be a junior bridesmaid.

Kuster For Woman's Club

The book section of the Carmel Woman's Club will have as its speaker, Carmel theatre luminary Edward Kuster at a meeting Monday afternoon in the clubhouse at 2:00 o'clock.

Ted Kuster's topic will be Forty Years of Theatre. Formerly a lawyer in Southern California, he came here during the 1920s and ever since has been an active figure in both the musical and theatrical life of the Peninsula.

Serving on the tea committee will be Mrs. Fred L. Farley, Mrs. E. M. Porter, Mrs. Lawrence Kinsler, Mrs. C. H. Beckwith and Mrs. G. L. Lair.

Chester Lewis Receives Award

Chester V. Lewis, West Coast Life district manager, has been given a National Quality Award by the National Association of Life Underwriters and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association in recognition of his excellent underwriting record.

Mr. Lewis has been in the insurance business for 14 of the 16 years he has lived in Carmel. He has also served on the city planning commission.

Mona Williams To New York

Off by jet this morning for New York City is Mrs. Henry Meade Williams, bound for conferences with her publishers, Putnam and Sons, concerning her new novel, the manuscript of which preceded her to the east.

The Hot Breath of Heaven is the provocative title Mona Williams has given her latest opus. She's not giving away details of the plot, but says the story is set in the burgeoning Southern California desert country. On-the-spot research was done in February, when Mrs. Williams spent some time at the Mojave Desert resort of Apple Valley.

Her stay in New York City will include a reunion with her son, Christopher Williams, who is studying at Pratt Institute. Mrs. Williams also plans to visit her sister and brother-in-law in Connecticut before returning to Carmel in mid-June.

Poets Dine, Declaim

New officers were installed at a dinner meeting of Arena Blanca Chapter of the California Federation of Chaparral Poets at the Church of the Wayfarer last Thursday evening.

Elected to head the local poets for the coming year were Olivia Young, president; Blanche Moke, first vice-president; Lois Wilson, second vice-president; Alma Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Olive Beidleman was installing officer.

Awards for the year's work went to Hascal Stewart for a sonnet; second award to Blanche Moke for another sonnet; and third to Bernice Minarik for a free verse. Judge was Mrs. Lida Stussie, president of the federation's Oakland chapter, who was accompanied by her husband Walter Stussie, second vice-president of the federation.

The April free-verse contest was won by Bernice Minarik, with Lois Wilson and Jerry Wild runners-up.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray was featured speaker for the occasion. Mrs. Blanche Moke was in charge of dinner arrangements, assisted by Nancy Probasco, Bernice Minarik, Hascal Stewart, Alma Anderson, Cynthia Richardson and Jerry Wild.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Art On The Peninsula

Public voting gave a first place to Walter Carr of Pebble Beach for the oil portrait he exhibited on Friday in the weekly non-juried show at the Craft Studios. Maggie McCarthy of Carmel won second place with a still life in oils. A special children's award went to Karen Busic for the watercolor she exhibited.

The Drake Gallery will show paintings and drawings by Elizabeth Quandt, also lithographs and etchings by Dennis R. Beall, starting tomorrow. This evening the new show will be previewed by guests at a reception.

Elizabeth Quandt was born in Oxford, England and educated in England and at the California School of Fine Arts. Her work has been exhibited in the Library of Congress, San Francisco Museum of Art, Santa Barbara Museum, Oakland Art Museum and the Philadelphia Print Club.

Her prints have been included in Fifty Prints of the Year and Carnegie Institute Representative Prints of the Year exhibitions. She is a former president of the San Francisco Women Artists.

Dennis R. Beall has a master's degree from San Francisco State College. He has exhibited throughout the United States, recently at the San Francisco Museum of Art, and was awarded a purchase prize in the Contemporary Religious Print Exhibition at the California College of Arts and Crafts last month. He is curator of the Achenbach Foundation for Graphic Arts.

The Drake Gallery is at San Carlos Street and Eighth Avenue and is open daily except Mondays from 12:30-5:30 o'clock each afternoon.

Tonight at Monterey Peninsula College, photographer Wynne Bullock will show for the first time his latest experiments in non-objective design in pure light.

The color abstractions will illustrate his talk, entitled Creative Seeing in Photography, to be given at 8:00 o'clock in the college library lecture hall. The event is open to the public without charge.

Tonight's lecture climaxes the one-man show of Bullock prints on view in the lecture hall through tomorrow.

MPC JAZZ FESTIVAL MEMORIAL DAY EVENT

Jazz in all its forms—hot to cool, combo to big band—will be represented in the College Jazz Festival to be presented Memorial Day at Monterey Peninsula College.

Preliminary competition Monday will be open to the public without charge, and is scheduled as follows: Small combos, 9:00-10:30 o'clock in the morning; large combos, 11:00-12:00; big bands, 12:30-4:30 o'clock.

Finals, including a competitive improvisation session, will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. There will be an admission charge for the evening program. All events will take place in the Armory on the MPC campus.

Local groups competing in various classifications are the Monterey Peninsula Festival Band and the Hartnell Jazz Combo.

Another Approach To Religion

Where is there a religion that honestly encourages the fullest possible use of reason?

There is beauty and truth in many of the world's religious faiths. Is there a church anywhere that does not claim to have all the answers?

I cannot accept religious beliefs just on faith. Is there a church for me?

Can persons from any religious background—Christian, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem, etc.—find one church where all are welcome without "conversion" or "renunciation"?

If you find something of your own thought, experience, and searching in these questions, you are invited to share your ideas with us—the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula. We meet every Sunday at 11:00 a.m. at the Masonic Auditorium, Central at Lighthouse, Pacific Grove. Literature about Unitarianism may be procured by writing: P.O. Box 92, Carmel.

Local Blood Bank's Reciprocal Policy Helps Mrs. Updike

There will be a blood drawing at the chapter house of the American Red Cross in Carmel on June 2 starting at 10:00 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Derek Rayne, chairman for the blood program, emphasizes the increased need for blood during the summer months when more people are traveling over the country. Visitors in Carmel are given blood from the local Blood Bank which is replaced from supplies in their own area. Similarly, Carmel residents traveling in other areas of the country obtain necessary blood which is replaced by the local Blood Bank.

An example of this policy of blood reciprocity is illustrated by the case of Mrs. Ben Updike of Carmel. Mrs. Updike recently underwent a serious operation in another locality. Through the policy of blood reciprocity, the necessary amount of blood she needed was made available to her to be paid back out of future drawings here in Carmel.

Young Recitalist In Debut

Eleven-year-old Christy Niebel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Niebel, made her solo debut in a piano recital Sunday afternoon at the Machado Studio at Fifth and Santa Fe before an appreciative audience of 35 adults and youngsters. Assisting artist on the program was young violinist Joanne Lay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lay; she is a student of Carmel violinist Eiko Yoshizato.

Daughter Joins Coiners

Their first child, a seven pound, eight ounce girl, was welcomed May 12 by Lieutenant and Mrs. John A. Coiner of Fifth and Santa Fe. Jocelyn Amy is the baby's name.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Lambert of Los Gatos; Mrs. Lambert was here to greet her new grandchild. Mrs. Julia E. Coiner and Alfred S. Coiner of Washington, D.C., are Jocelyn's paternal grandparents.

Honored at Bankers' Conclave

A. C. Hughes was among those honored at a luncheon Tuesday at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles for past presidents of the California Bankers Association.

While her husband flew south for the Association's three-day convention, Mrs. Hughes enjoyed a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Joseph E. Carty, in Menlo Park.

AREA PLANNERS MEET

Council Says No To Mail, Park, One-Way Streets

ing spaces valued at $50,000-$100,000, he said.

Assembly Bill 114 passed this year dealt entirely with establishing malls, Mr. Neill added. This bill stated that if a mall is established and property owners lose money, they must be reimbursed by the city.

He also stated that the bill provides that if a majority of property owners in the sphere of influence of a mall protest it in writing, the mall cannot be considered again for a year. Mr. Neill thought the petition received by the council last night established valid written objection to closing an Ocean Avenue block for a mall.

Closing Ocean Avenue, 100 feet wide, and placing traffic two 32-foot lanes on Sixth and Seventh Avenues "will block a main artery, hurt your life," Mr. Neill prophesied.

Mrs. Geraldine Smith said Ocean Avenue was "crowded with people who wanted to be there." If Ocean Avenue were closed to traffic, "it would be a surrender to the automobile."

"Any resident who objects to waiting five minutes to drive across Ocean Avenue at times of peak traffic should not live in Carmel," Mrs. Smith stated.

The signs necessary for one-way traffic would destroy the look of the city, Mrs. Smith continued.

Later Councilman Francis Whitaker asked Street Superintendent Askew to estimate how many signs would be needed for one-way traffic direction. Mr. Askew replied that 70 signs would be necessary; 34 of these 12 inches by 40 inches in size, the others 24 inches square.

J. O. Handley did not object to the traffic plan but, as president of the C-2 Property Owners Association, asked that the planning commission definitely define, then adhere to business district zoning. Business zoning demands have been altered so frequently by the commission it has been a hazard to buy property; zoning of the land might be changed before construction could be started, Mr. Handley concluded.

Motel owners Howard Healey, Thompson McCrea, A. C. Lafrenz, Lars Svendsgaard and Claude Kimball, all objected to one-way traffic. Mr. McCrea said the traffic plan was "organized confusion."

Lewis Hunter and Mrs. Lee Harbick spoke of delivery problems created by one-way flow.

Mrs. Mai McGrury feared there was danger to children attending Woods School and crossing one-way traffic, also elderly pedestrians would be inconvenienced in the north part of town. The one-way traffic plan was "a heck of a mess," she ended and compared it to a child tangled with hot taffy.

Harry Beshore called the traffic plan "a great hunk of congestion."

Lieutenant Colonel A. C. DeCamp said public hearing expressions reflected "real Carmel." He stated that the opinions heard last night against the central district plan proved the planning commission, in preparing the plan, "were very remote from what Carmel wants." He thought the hearing had been illustrative of this opinion: "Just wonderful."

The audience applauded his statements loudly and at length. Barnett Segal also received applause when he concurred with Colonel DeCamp's opinions.

Following the hearing, council discussion revealed that Councilman John Chitwood thought business might suffer from a mall after listening to citizens' protests.

"Anything that hurts business hurts Carmel," he said. Mr. Chitwood also stated that when traffic conditions became intolerable was the time to take action. Citizens had demonstrated "the time is not ripe."

Councilman Eben Whittlesey declared that citizens had proved there was "no desire to change traffic patterns and facilitate flow with one-way streets."

"Residents seem willing to fight their way through Ocean Avenue. If tourists are still able to do the same, Ocean Avenue merchants will be satisfied." Mr. Whittlesey assumed the mall would not make life more pleasant for residents.

Councilman Whitaker clinched his points against one-way traffic with the street superintendent's sign report.

Councilman Norberg said "no" in many words to all aspects of the plan. It worked against "the sense of Carmel"; did not express the preamble to the city zoning ordinance which should be the "rockbottom of all Carmel planning."

He did vote "yes" on the motion to commend the planning commission for the months of time and effort they had put into the plan before sending it to the council. This vote was unanimous to the surprise of council and audience. "It's the summer season," was the observation of Mr. Chitwood.

billed the city only to find that no such payment was authorized in the budget. If this were withheld until next year's budget, claimed Timbers, he would suffer a "terrible loss".

Were the cards printed before or after the election? queried kibitzing Councilman Francis Whitaker. Mayor Putnam, invoking the Fifth Amendment, declined to answer.

A possible contretemps was averted by temperate action of the student council, which on motion of councilwoman Suzi Smith recommended that the cards be paid for out of the mayor's fund.

The meeting was adjourned in a glow of civic achievement.
